Gadgets might maketh the man but mystery and intrigue maketh the man interesting. Accordingly, the man needs to have mysterious gadgets in his flat, ticking and whirring and doing interesting things. "Wow, what's that?" That you'll say, is a virtual radar system that uses aircraft Mode-S/ADS-B transmissions to build up a real-time map of local flight plans, displayable on a PC or laptop. Then you'll leap down a fireman's pole to the sub-basement before anyone can ask why you need such a thing, leaving your guest rightfully mystified and intrigued
